

Organizational Development Plan

Yehia Zakaria

2026

SWOT Analysis of the previous generation

“Perform a SWOT analysis, tackling the overall generation & your department in specific.”

Strengths

- The OD team successfully organized several well-planned and impactful gatherings throughout the year.
- Member feedback was consistently documented, and KPIs were tracked in an organized and systematic manner.
- Communication between the OD team and the Board of Executives was clear, structured, and continuous.
- All warnings or terminations were handled professionally, following a clear set of rules and procedures to ensure fairness and transparency.
- Collaborating in circles with another organizations or student activities such as Enactus Cairo

Weaknesses

- Member burnout increased significantly as the event season approached.
- The postponing of the main event and the lack of organized setup caused a noticeable drop in energy and motivation, leading many members to feel disengaged or bored.
- Not all members were able to benefit from KPI tracking, as some teams such as the PR team did not hold enough meetings, whether offline or online, which limited consistent communication and performance evaluation.

Opportunities

- The last event achieved strong visibility and attracted positive attention, allowing more people to become familiar with TEDxCairoUniversity
- The TEDxCairoUniversity name has become one of the most recognized and frequently mentioned within Cairo University, giving the team a strong reputation to build on.
- The previous generation's challenges and mistakes provide valuable experience, enabling the upcoming team to handle situations more effectively and avoid repeating past issues.

Threats

- A high turnover rate may occur if member motivation decreases as the event approaches, especially during high-pressure sprints.
- With no L&D team this year, OD will need to cover additional responsibilities, which may place extra stress on members and risk affecting their performance.
- Conflicts or miscommunication between divisions could disrupt workflow and slow down progress.
- Academic pressure may affect members' availability and overall commitment throughout the year.
- Misalignment between curators and executives could lead to confusion, inconsistent direction, and inefficient team management.

Vision:

“what’s your end goal from leading this department?”

1. To build a team where every member feels valued, supported, and motivated to reach their fullest potential. My vision is to create an environment where members grow as friends, build strong connections, and genuinely love being part of TEDxCairoUniversity. When people feel emotionally connected to the place, they naturally give their best effort, show commitment, and push themselves to grow.
2. I aim to select members who have leadership potential, sociability, eagerness to learn, and true passion for TEDx knowing that technical skills can always be trained, but the right mindset and dedication are what make a team exceptional.
3. Ultimately, my vision is to create a generation and an event so impactful, memorable, and powerful that people continue talking about it for years to come.

Mission:

“How are you going to achieve this vision?”

I will achieve this vision by building structured engagement systems, designing creative and meaningful inside events, and continuously collecting and applying member insights to improve the experience. My mission is to promote strong cross team bonding, create an inclusive environment, and ensure that every member feels supported both personally and professionally.

To make this happen, I will stay close to the team hanging out with them to break the ice, checking on their well being regularly, and making sure no one reaches burnout. I will implement clear KPIs for all members, including the HR team, to help them track their performance and understand their strengths and areas of improvement.

Additionally, I will establish fair, transparent, and well defined criteria during the selection process to ensure we choose members who align with TEDx values and fit the culture we aim to build.

Recruitment plan:

“Discuss the executive’s criteria, your capacity building plan for the members, and their responsibilities & expected deliverables.”

1. Recruitment way

My recruitment approach focuses primarily on assessing candidates’ social and soft skills rather than technical abilities. Technical skills can always be taught and developed over time, but soft skills, passion, and mindset are what truly define a successful OD member.

During the interview, I aim to understand:

- How they communicate
- How they think
- How they handle people
- Whether they are truly passionate about joining TEDx
- Whether they understand our culture, values, and the team they are applying for

I want them to feel the TEDx spirit from the moment they walk into the interview — to feel welcomed, comfortable, and motivated. If they fall in love with the place from Day 1, their energy and commitment will naturally follow throughout the season.

2. Selection Criteria

The criteria for selecting strong OD candidates are based on character, attitude, and potential:

- Leadership Potential
Ability to take initiative, influence positively, and bring solutions.
 - Sociability
Friendly, approachable, and comfortable communicating with diverse personalities.
 - Multitasking Ability
Can manage multiple responsibilities and stay organized under pressure.
 - Teamwork
Works well with others, supports teammates, and contributes to a healthy environment.
 - Passion & Energy
Shows genuine excitement for TEDx, brings positive energy, and has the drive to grow and give.
 - Basic Knowledge About TEDx
Candidates should know what TEDx stands for, the purpose of the platform, and have a general idea of the role they are applying for.

3. Team Structure & Capacity

To handle the large number of TEDxCairoUniversity members effectively and to reduce stress and turnover, I plan to build a strong OD team composed of:

- Two OD representatives for every team
(Social Media, Design, Multimedia, Operations, PR, Fundraising, Speakers & Coaching, Ambassadors)

This structure will create a team of around 16 members, which ensures:

- Balanced work distribution
- Better communication with every division
- Faster response to member issues
- Closer monitoring of engagement & KPIs
- Lower burnout rate
- Higher consistency in support and follow-up

This approach strengthens OD's presence and ensures that no team feels unsupported at any stage of the journey.

Capacity Building Plan

To prepare the OD members to manage people effectively and support the entire organization, I will implement a structured training path during the first sprints. Each session is designed to build their confidence, professionalism, emotional intelligence, and technical HR/OD capabilities.

1. Welcome & TEDx Culture Session

A kickoff session covering:

- TEDx mission, values, and global impact
 - The role of OD and its influence on the internal experience
 - Expectations, culture principles, and communication ethics
- This session helps new members feel included, aligned, and emotionally connected from their first day.

2. Code of Conduct + Emotional Intelligence Training

A combined session that focuses on:

- Professional and respectful behavior inside TEDx
 - How to avoid conflicts and handle concerns respectfully
 - Emotional intelligence concepts: empathy, active listening, tone control, conflict de-escalation
 - How EI influences leadership and team performance
- This helps OD members interact with others calmly, professionally, and sensitively.

3. KPI Creation & Appraisal Workshop

A practical session teaching OD members how to:

- Create fair and measurable KPIs for each division
 - Track attendance, performance, communication, and engagement
 - Build monthly reports and use them for evaluation
 - Conduct fair appraisals and give constructive feedback
- This ensures standardization and transparency across all teams.

4. Performance Tracking Systems — Monthly Monitoring Sessions

Two follow-up sessions after the KPI workshop, focusing on:

- How to update KPIs and dashboards every month
 - How to identify red flags such as burnout, lack of communication, or inconsistent performance
 - How to escalate issues professionally
 - How to document performance trends
- This ensures OD members can monitor progress continuously, not just at the end of the season.

5. Email & Communication Professionalism Session

A technical session covering:

- Professional email structure and tone
 - Sending mass emails correctly
 - Writing warnings, rejection, and acceptance emails
 - Communication do's and don'ts for official TEDx correspondence
- This gives OD the tools to communicate consistently and professionally.

6. Leadership Pathway Session (For Future Leaders)

An empowering session designed for OD members who aim to become executives or curators in future seasons. It will include:

- The responsibilities of a leader inside TEDx
 - How to handle teams, conflict, pressure, and decision-making
 - The steps required to grow from member → executive → curator
 - The mindset, discipline, and emotional strength needed for leadership
- This inspires motivated members to develop themselves and take responsibility for their growth.

Responsibilities

1. Member Engagement & Support

- Regularly check on team members to ensure they are motivated, comfortable, and not experiencing burnout.
- Follow up on individual concerns raised by members and escalate issues when needed.
- Maintain a positive, supportive presence across all divisions to strengthen internal culture.

2. Performance Tracking & Reporting

- Update KPIs and engagement dashboards every month with accurate and consistent data.
- Monitor attendance, task completion, communication, and participation across divisions.
- Prepare monthly performance reports for the OD Executive and Curators.
- Identify red flags such as low engagement or recurring issues and report them early.

3. Organizing Gatherings & Internal Events

- Help plan and execute gatherings that focus on bonding, motivation, and community building.
- Suggest creative ideas for new activities and ensure events run smoothly.
- Coordinate with Operations for logistics and Multimedia for coverage.

4. Feedback Collection & Analysis

- Conduct monthly satisfaction check-ins through forms or direct conversations.
- Collect insights about team morale, struggles, and improvement opportunities.
- Summarize feedback and translate it into actionable points.

5. Representing OD in Other Divisions

- Serve as OD representatives embedded inside each team (two per division).
- Attend major meetings of that division to understand the dynamics, challenges, and needs.
- Maintain a direct line of communication between the division and OD.

Cross-functionality

“Mention the teams you need to cross function with and where does this cross-functionality sit in the timeline.”

Cross-Functionality

The OD team collaborates closely with several divisions to ensure a smooth, supportive, and well-aligned workflow across TEDxCairoUniversity. Our goal is to strengthen communication, increase efficiency, and support each team in a way that enhances both member experience and overall performance.

1. Multimedia Team

- Support the Multimedia team by sharing creative ideas for internal event coverage.
- Provide concepts for videos, highlights, and documentation that reflect the team’s culture and energy.
- Coordinate with Multimedia to ensure gatherings and internal activities are captured professionally.

Purpose:

To help Multimedia deliver engaging, story-driven content that boosts team morale and documents the internal TEDx experience.

2. Fundraising Team

- Collaborate with Fundraising to evaluate which OD ideas and internal events are financially feasible.
- Discuss event concepts in advance to determine what can realistically be executed within budget.
- Align gathering needs with available sponsorships or in-kind support when needed.

Purpose:

To ensure that all OD event ideas are practical, cost-effective, and supported by TEDx resources.

Suggested Improvements

“Mention the suggested improvements and innovative ideas to solve the problems and enhance the performance of the team.”

1. End-of-Year Portfolios & Recommendation Letters

Introduce a new system where every committed member receives a personal portfolio summarizing their achievements, tasks, contributions, and growth throughout the year. In addition, members who show exceptional performance, professionalism, or development will receive official recommendation letters to support their future opportunities. This encourages members to stay motivated, consistent, and proud of the work they produce.

2. Maintain a Stable OD Team Throughout the Year

To ensure accurate performance tracking and meaningful member support, OD members should remain the same throughout the entire season.

A stable OD structure helps:

- Build trust within divisions
- Track members' progress properly
- Reduce confusion and misalignment
- Strengthen long-term relationships

Exceptions can be made only if a division faces major issues and requires a representative change — but overall stability should remain the priority.

3. Monthly “Member of the Month” Instead of Gathering-Based Recognition

Instead of choosing a “best member” or “highlight” only during gatherings, OD will implement a consistent monthly recognition system.

Every month, one or more members will be highlighted based on:

- Commitment
- Effort
- Behavior

- Growth
- Collaboration

This recognition will be announced monthly on the Facebook group to increase motivation, engagement, and internal pride.

It also creates a more structured, fair, and inclusive reward system.

Key Performance Indicators (KPIs):

*“How are you going to measure your members performance?
Provide qualitative & quantitative key performance indicators.”*

To ensure fair, consistent, and transparent evaluation across all divisions, OD will use both quantitative and qualitative KPIs. These indicators help track attendance, engagement, task quality, and overall attitude throughout the season.

1. Quantitative KPIs

• Gathering Attendance

Tracks how often each member attends internal gatherings.

Indicator: % of gatherings attended.

• Meeting Attendance

Measures commitment to weekly division meetings and sprint updates.

Indicator: % of meetings attended.

• Circle Participation & Attendance

Evaluates involvement in Circles and community-based activities.

Indicator: Participation rate + attendance consistency.

• Social Media Interactions

Tracks internal team engagement on TEDxCairoUniversity posts (likes, shares, comments, story shares).

Indicator: Monthly interaction frequency.

2. Qualitative KPIs

• Quality of Tasks (Executive Evaluation)

Each executive provides feedback on the quality, professionalism, and creativity of their team members' tasks.

Indicator:

- Task quality score
- Timeliness
- Commitment
- Communication

• Behavior & Attitude

Evaluates positivity, teamwork, respect, communication tone, and emotional intelligence.

Indicator: Behavioral score from OD representatives.

• Engagement & Presence

Tracks the member's energy, contribution in discussions, and helpfulness in tasks.

Indicator: Engagement score reported monthly by OD reps.

• Growth & Improvement

Monitors how much the member is improving across sprints.

Indicator: Progress score based on KPI trends.

3. Final Monthly Engagement Score (MES)

All KPIs combine into one monthly score:

MES = Attendance (Meetings + Gatherings)

- + Task Quality
- + Social Media Interaction
- + Circles Participation
- + Behavior & Engagement

This score helps OD identify:

- High performers
- Members who need support

- Burnout risks
- Improvement opportunities
- Candidates for “Member of the Month”

Recommendations:

“If you have any idea that you want to dump”

As there is no I&d team so I suggest to make the name of OD -> HR as they will be responsible for all the HR staff.
